

Why Publish with GHF Press?

GHF Press is not like other publishing houses. We search for new voices in the gifted, twice-exceptional, and homeschool communities: voices with new information, an interesting take on these communities, or a new approach.

To give you a better sense of whom we are and what we offer, we have put together this summary. Of course, if you have any questions, please contact our Editor in Chief, Sarah J. Wilson, at sarahw@giftedhomeschoolers.org.

What is GHF Press?

GHF Press is a division of Gifted Homeschoolers Forum, a non-profit organization that works to support, educate and advocate for families regarding their choice of educational path for their gifted and twice-exceptional (2e) children around the world.

What does GHF Press publish?

We publish highly focused, brief books (fewer than 100 pages) on topics of interest to the gifted/2e and/or homeschool communities. We appreciate that parents of these kids are often looking for more depth than breadth, and that they value easy-access reference books such as ours. We understand the size of their “to read” pile and don’t want to them to get hurt when it topples over.

What does GHF Press offer?

- Access to the difficult-to-reach gifted and twice-exceptional community.
- Access to homeschoolers and others interested in personalized education.
- The backing of Gifted Homeschoolers Forum (GHF), a well-known and highly respected non-profit advocacy organization.
- A favorable, industry-standard publishing contract.
- Editorial support throughout the writing and publishing process.
- The full marketing support of GHF.
- The opportunity to explore a specific topic in depth.
- The unique opportunity to communicate directly with your audience.

What does GHF Press not do?

GHF Press is not a large publishing house with anonymous departments, one-sided contracts, and rigid guidelines. We’re flexible, we’re creative, and we’re willing to work with you.
